Plant Tour

Kings Island Amusement Park had graciously opened their gates to allow us a tour of their campus on April 26th. It was an extensive behind the scenes walk through of their maintenance, food services, first aid and security areas.

If you and your company would be willing to host a plant tour next year, please let Brad Weber (Brad.Weber@sheakley.com or (513-314-0042) know and we can make arrangements to get it on our meeting calendar. That is a great opportunity to network with other safety professionals as well as share ideas and innovations across industries.

UPCOMING PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SEMINARS

Discover solutions to your greatest occupational safety and health (OSH) challenges at the premiere annual safety education event in the industry. Take advantage of top-quality safety education options at the conference, along with countless opportunities to network with thousands of attendees across all job roles, industries, experience levels, geographies and demographics.

The Safety 2022 Professional Development Conference and Exposition will take place June 27 - 29, 2022, both online and in-person in Chicago, IL.

Delegates' Votes Signal Change

Bradley D. Giles, P.E., CSP, STS, FASSP, GIOSH, 2021-2022 ASSP President

Apr 01, 2022

Our House of Delegates (HOD) recently approved two motions that signal significant change for ASSP:

1. The HOD approved revisions to the ASSP bylaws that will see that body transition to become a board-standing committee known as the Advisory Group.
2. The Board of Directors was given the authority to sell ASSP's headquarters building in Park Ridge, IL, and lease smaller office space.

Improved Influence, Inclusivity, Business Agility & Value

I know you might be wondering what these changes mean to you and your ASSP membership. I like to think about them in terms of influence, agility, inclusivity and value. These decisions affect how ASSP does business, shows up in the marketplace, advocates on our behalf, delivers value to members and other stakeholders, and supports our staff.

Through the governance change, we are elevating member voice and creating more inclusive opportunities for you to be heard and have input that will influence the Society's direction. As a proactive standing board committee, the Advisory Group will be continuously involved in sharing insight and feedback that informs board decisions. The group not only will help shape the Society but also will affect how we impact the OSH profession. Through this process, we will deliver greater value to you and the organizations you support.

The governance change also establishes clear decision-making accountability that enables the Board of Directors to fully meet its legal and fiduciary responsibilities. As a result, we will be better positioned to address the needs of members, the OSH profession, and the companies and workforces you support. This improved business agility will allow ASSP to respond more quickly and effectively to competitive pressures as well.

Our goals were to modernize the Society's governance, systems and structures so we can make business decisions more swiftly and deliver member value more efficiently and in ways that are more inclusive. Thanks to the contributions and support of many individuals, including our task force, delegates, volunteer leaders, board members and staff, ASSP has taken the important step needed to achieve those goals and position the Society for sustained success.

During our last governance change in 2015, we committed to continuously improve our governance to align with best practices in association management. We will continue this commitment to governance review and improvement as we work with the Advisory Group.

With regard to selling ASSP's headquarters office, you will continue to receive the high-quality services, products and experiences you expect from ASSP. Owning a building is not critical to the Society's mission or strategic plan. Our staff has not missed a beat since the pandemic forced a remote work environment, and they continue to express their desire for greater work flexibility. Selling the building will also allow us to reinvest in other critical areas and help us control operating expenses in challenging economic times.

As I wrote in my August 2021 message on governance, change is never easy. But our willingness to think differently and our courage to act differently will help us create a better future for ASSP and our profession. I am deeply grateful for and appreciative of your dedication and commitment to the Society.

Become a Safety Professional

If you're curious about occupational safety and health (OSH) careers and wondering what OSH professionals do, how to become an OSH professional, and typical career paths or courses of study for this profession, then look no further. ASSP can answer all your questions.

What is an OSH professional?

Find a Job

Don't miss out on the perfect OSH job opportunity. Our job board is an online career center where employers can post job openings, and members can post resumes and search for jobs.

Continue Your Education

When you invest in continuing education, you're investing in your career. Earn industry certifications like the ASP, CSP, CHST, OHST and SMS — which are proven to increase safety professionals' salaries — with the help of our certification exam preparation courses; or become an expert in a particular OSH area by obtaining one of our professional certificates, making yourself an indispensable asset to your organization. We offer something for everyone.

Make Connections

It's no secret that connections are what most often land people in the right job and help you find answers and implement best practices. Our various member communities connect you to great people and great resources. Further, our annual conferences, events and training opportunities serve as great networking venues, including:

- Annual Professional Development Conference: The largest safety conference of its kind, you're sure to meet other safety professionals who can help you to advance your career. Plus, we have an on-site career center at the conference where you can view job opportunities across the country, and visit companies to meet potential employers face-to-face.
- SafetyFOCUS: SafetyFOCUS is ASSP's signature educational event offering more than 100 courses from 50 expert facilitators covering the safety industry's most relevant topics. This one-of-a-kind event draws over 1,000 OSH professionals to earn up to 5.6 CEUs through one-, two- and three-day courses, all in one week.
- Leadership Conference: Elected ASSP leaders attend this conference to enhance their leadership skills for both their volunteer roles at ASSP and their professional roles at work. Meet your fellow volunteers and expand your industry contacts.
- Future Safety Leaders Conference: Current safety professionals educate, develop and mentor a select group of ASSP student members at this conference — helping them transition from student life to employment in the safety field. Students also network with employers to learn about career opportunities.

Find a Mentor

Finding the right mentor can help you to navigate your safety career and solidify your career path. We help connect OSH professionals through our member communities, including local chapters, practice specialty member communities and common interest group member communities.

This allows you to engage on a global scale with a vast community of peers who work in all industries and represent diverse voices across age, gender and ethnicity.
